A celebration of vintage inspired Chateau stories

The Chateau by Angel Strawbridge embodies designer Angel's distinctive style. Every design nods to a bygone era and tells a story inspired by the Chateau and her family; husband Dick and children Arthur & Dorothy.

Each of the handwritings celebrate her quirky sense of design and love of old things, telling the story behind the hidden treasures and enchanting grounds of Angel's fairytale home, Chateau de la Motte Husson.

From the herons that Dorothy and Dick watch every morning, to the pumpkins that Arthur grew in Daddy's walled garden.. the collection is not just beautiful, it's a love story.

We hope you enjoy the pages ahead and seeing some of the inspirations behind them.

“Chateau de la Motte Husson is full of hidden treasures. When we first became custodians of our new home, Dick Strawbridge (my husband) and I knew we were in for a lifetime of family treasure hunting. On my first official visit to our attic I was rooting around with our daughter Dorothy on my hip and I opened the doors to a 15 feet tall armoire. I was holding my breath with excitement and was delighted to discover roll upon roll of the most beautiful wallpaper off-cuts from the designs that had adorned the walls of the Chateau since its birth.

I wanted to celebrate this and share the joys of the colours and designs, so that its history lives on in many people’s memories. A piece of each of the wallpapers now resides in our very own Wallpaper Museum cut into an elegant diamond and braided with love.”

“I always say this is a script you cannot write. What are the chances of finding the entire collection of off-cuts! The Wallpaper Museum has become a favourite story on our TV series, Escape to the Chateau. Who could have imagined that this would open up the future to my own Chateau inspired designs? Five years on and I am proud to have a portfolio of designs big enough to re-create the Wallpaper Museum. What’s even better is seeing the past and present come together.”

Potagerie Collection

On the fourth floor of the Chateau, a room patiently awaits some TLC. The former servant's quarter look out over Dick & Angel Strawbridge's walled garden, the "Potagerie".

The room waited nearly four years to be given the attention it deserved, and in that time, the Potagerie had begun its transformation – and the view got better and better and better. Dick duly named the room "The Potagerie Suite", and from that moment it too started to come to life...

The kitchen garden is Dick's passion, though a little outside his wife's comfort zone. That said, Angel managed to celebrate and combine her love for Art Deco shapes with items from the garden adored by her husband. The appearance of carrots, courgettes, artichokes, sweet pea and of course bees really scream, "Garden!" Angel even took inspiration from the flowers on the century-old wallpaper that was originally in the room.

For Angel, design needs to tell a story. This one is about love.

Honeycomb

The Chateau is as much about the outdoors as the indoors. In fact, it is often a case of merging both...

The Honeycomb design picks up on the theme of nature, in particular the bees that play such an important part of the natural cycle – pollinating the wild flowers that grow in the Chateau's meadow, the wisteria that grows up the orangery and the produce grown in the Walled Garden.

The hexagonal patterning, mixed with the flower and bee imagery, creates a beautifully soft but geometric pattern.

“There is a lot of animal life at The Chateau – in both the grounds and on the walls! Every room has ‘one’... some of our most loved and recognised animals are faux and Le Chateau des Animaux is a nod to them. A unicorn welcomes you in the grand entrance and our children, Arthur and Dorothy, enjoy mealtimes with a giraffe and zebra in the sale à manger – and why not?! The Chateau was made for fun and laughter and my new art nouveau design captures these special moments.”

Nouveau Heron

“We are very lucky to be surrounded by a moat. Not only is it peaceful and full of fish, but every morning a heron perches on a rock and eats our fish. Dorothy has taken a real liking to our adopted heron, often shouting at the top of her voice ‘the heron... the heron!’ It often flies off at this point, but we all run to the window to see it in flight! In Japanese culture, the bird represents a noble, graceful appearance and a sign of purity.”

A Woodland Trail

The grounds surrounding The Chateau are incredibly exciting and the subject of many morning chats staring out of the Strawbridge suite window. There is an abundance of natural beauty and with Arthur and Dorothy at the perfect age, exploring nature is always on the agenda!

The family share The Chateau parkland with many species of wildlife. Some of these are captured by Angel in this stunning design, while the autumnal tones featured explore the colour pallet of a particularly golden season at The Chateau.

The Oriental Garden

Moonlight

The Moonlight cushion is part of the Oriental Garden collection. Taking her Blossom design and adding dusky moonlight creates a magical feel that Angel often says she experiences when she sees the Chateau in moonlight.

This is all captured in a beautiful painted scene, set at dusk, when the shadows and textures of the flowers and foliage all change under the soft moonlight.

The Moonlit Lily Garden

The Moonlit Lily Garden Dusk MOO/DUS/04545CC

“The Chateau in moonlight is an enchanting picture...it truly glows. Looking up at the sky can leave you breathless; it is vast and when your eyes travel down to the moat, everything is lit by a magical moonlit glow. In 2019, Dick, Arthur, Dorothy and I visited Monet’s Garden at Giverny. This is where he painted the famous Water Lilies. We were so inspired and on arrival back to the Chateau, we purchased dozens of lily flowers for the moat. During midsummer, after the sun has been shining on them for a few hours, the flowers open up to all their glory! When the sun goes down, they close again...nature is truly a miracle. The Moonlit Lily Garden brings together the Chateau’s two most majestic outside views. The Moonlit Lily Garden may be fantasy...but it’s one of my favourites!”

Blossom and Butterfly

Blossom and butterflies are abundant at The Chateau. Both are fleeting and precious reminders to stop and enjoy them in that very moment.

Some butterflies only show their beauty for a week and after winter passes and spring starts to say “hello”, for a short time the trees are bursting with sweet scented blossom. The delicate formations, the smell, the blossom snow caused by the wind – all are reminders of how beautiful and magical nature is.

“There is something very special about being by water. When looking for our forever home, being close to water was on our ‘must have list’! It was definitely love at first sight when we saw The Chateau and the moat really was the icing on the cake.

The Chateau needed lots of attention and it was a couple of years before we even ventured outside to plant our first trees. We are always finding inspiration and in 2019 we visited the gardens of Giverny to see Monet’s home and studio.

Our whole family loved the water lily pond and it seemed only right to take this inspiration straight to our own moat! That year, we planted 30 lilies rhizomes and could not believe it when a couple of months later, they gave us week upon week of flowers. We watched the lilies change daily...who knew they only flower when they’ve had three hours of light! Then when the light goes the lilies gently close and go to sleep...isn’t nature fascinating?”
